Amore's is proud to present to you the recipes of the Macaluso and Giordano Family.

Nick Macaluso came to this country from Ribera Sicily in 1909 and settled in Galveston.

There he married Pauline Giordano and fathered 4 children: Anthony, Joseph, Jerome, and my mother Margaret.

Mama is the one that passed to me the family recipes that we now serve at Amore's.

It makes me very proud to present to you many of the specialties that I grew up with.

I think that grandpa Nick would be proud and, as all good Italian women, Grandma would be disappointed if anyone left the table hungry.

 News, Nonsense, Rants
 By Henry McClurg

Hello Again

Welcome to the 63rd issue of your GEM.

Teeny Tiny.

Last issue, this column was in such small type that you could not read it. That was the fault of my replacement. (See photo in the middle.) He has better eyesight than most of us. But I am repeating some of the highlights from last issue's column with some all-new rants and stuff.

Steaks in Montrose

Where can you get a steak in Montrose? You can't. Is there somewhere I have overlooked?

I'm not talking about a steak on the menu. I'm talking about a steak house. It seems strange that there is none in all of Montrose but yet there are three in Galveston on the Seawall right in a row. And you pass by them every time you make that pleasant drive between two of our favorite Island watering holes: Robert's Lafitte and the Pink Dolphin.

I have eaten at all three of their steak houses: Millers Landing, Salt Grass and Nate's. I have found the steaks at all three delicious and what you would expect for the price. So I'll compare the three's atmosphere.

Nate's is the least crowded. It must be because both Miller's and Salt Grass are recognizable chains. And people will unfortunately head for a chain over the local competitor. But there lack of a crowd can be to your advantage as you can eat and watch the waves come in.

My experience at Miller's was least enjoyable. It was simply too crowded with parents and kids.

Salt Grass was somewhere in between the other two and in between in atmosphere. We were annoyed by a table of college-age drunks they had placed next to us. We could of moved to another table but didn't.

So there you are.

Me, Me, Me

Don't want to hear about me? Well, it's the subject I know more about than any other. So I apologize for talking about me all the time. So, here's more on me.

Last issue I announced that I was open to ideas, partners or even out-right selling this newspaper to some someone (and only someone) who will take it, make it grow, and provide Houston with a good gay newspaper.

I'm still listening.

In the meantime, guess who is still in charge. Yes, Me. I feel better. My doctors have me taking 22, yes 22, pills a day. But they seem to be working.

So in celebration, we're having a summer-long sale here at The GEM. Call your GEM advertising culturally-refined sales executive (That's Brian or me) and we'll sell you a display ad. Cheap!

Papa Dell

He owned his own club on Richmond, then moved to The 611 as the head morning bartender. He was a favorite of everyone.

Since a monkey could put out this newspaper, meet my replacement

He was very dependable. His shift was 7:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. After checkout, he would sit on a barstool and flirt with the boys usually until just a little after 3:00. In fact, when 3:00 rolled around he even started flirting with me.

Papa Dell recently died after a short hospital and hospice stay. A "Celebration of Life" was held at The 611.

Where's the G.O.P.?

You know, I've haven't said anything yet about the Republicans. Why beat them when they're down? And I didn't say anything about them in other recent issues. What's wrong with me? Well, I'll have to come up with something before the end of this column.

At the Bars

This is the dog days of summer but there are big events coming up. Get yourself all greased up so you'll be ready.

It's time for the Denim Party at the cowboy bar.

Lafitte's is claiming it's turing 42 this month and they claim they are the oldest gay bar in Texas. Of course, Mary's also claims to be the oldest gay bar in Texas. The correct answer: both are.

Mary's is the oldest at the same location for the whole time. Lafitte's is the oldest for being under the same ownership or the heir).

Of course, both have some customers who have been there the whole time.

George how serves breakfast and $1 vodkas Sunday mornings at 10:00. Just think of it as your church service. Lady Lee is your pastor.

The Radio Business

This part is boring. Switch down the sex part at the end if desired. How did I ever get into this gay newspaper business? you ask. It started first in the radio business. Well, you didn't ask. But I'm going to tell you anyway for two reasons: It will take up a lot of space in this column (and considering our last issues, we were skimpy with the news) and (the honest reason) I just want to tell you. It makes me feel good.

Yes, this is another chapter in my book, on newsstands soon. Maybe ten years from now.

Back in Jackson, Miss., in high school, I started hanging around one of our two rock'n roll stations, WJXN. You see, I wanted to be a rock'n roll disc jockey.

So, I talked my way into being a general gofer for them. Since they didn't pay me anything, and since the owner's son was just a little beyond my age, and since I was young and cute, I got to where I could just come and go there. But they never put me on the air.

I decided to impress on them as to how useful I was (and that dear readers, is the key to climbing any corporate ladder.) I'd come in at night, sit at the secretary's desk, and answer the phone, writing down the requests. That saved the DJ from having to answer the phone, being the only one at the station at night.

So I made myself useful.

And, I made it a point to learn everything I could. I knew every knob and switch in both control rooms and on the transmitter.

The owner's son was the 8 to midnight disc jockey. He got to where he took me under the arm.

One day, Roger, who was moving up to be the station's full time bookkeeper and needed to leave the late night shift, asked me, "Henry, you think you're ready to take over for me?"

"You mean, what? What do you mean?"

I could not imagine he was offering me a full time job, my own show, and everything, 8:00 to midnight. But he was.

Good god, I was going to be a rock and roll disc jockey on one of Jackson's two rock and roll stations.

Never mind that our ratings had fallen so low and WRBC "out-Hoopered" us ten to one.

Roger also gave me his Sunday morning 6:00 a.m. to noon shift where we simply ran tapes of money-grabbing evangelists including old Jerry Falwell, who was just getting started. But I had one hour in there were I was to play gospel music. So, I learned Who was who in gospel music back then.

Okay, I work the Sunday shift but I was really looking forward to my rock and roll show starting the next night. What would my air name be? How early should I get there? Etc., etc.

Then, are you ready? The next part would be an episode of the sitcom, "WKRP in Cincinnati." In fact, I think it was.

Monday morning (the day I start) the you-know-what hit the fan.

Mrs. Ownby and son Roger (with an arm load of 45's) walk into the station around 9:00 a.m. She announces to the staff, "Everyone drop everything your doing. And get out. In fact, get in your cars and get off my property. Your final paycheck will be mailed to you."

Like I said, the competitor was whipping WJXN's ass. So she fired everyone! Without exception (well, except me as she didn't know who I was or that I was to work starting that night.)

She then had a local well-known group of brothers, the Harris brothers, come in. They were know about Jackson's small live music circuit for their country band.

Roger let that last rock and roll record finish on the turntable, and announced, "Welcome listeners to the new WJXN."

And he proceed to play from that stack of country songs he had brought in with him.

The Harris brothers arrived, divided up the broadcast day so each had a five hour or so show.

Now, picture me getting out of high school at 3:15 p.m., turning on WJXN, and hearing an announcer I had never heard of playing alien music.

Do I have the right station tuned in? Yep. Do I work tonight, my first night? I guess I do. Nobody called me but of course they couldn't call me. I was in high school.

I decided I was not going to call them. They might say, "oh, by the way, we've changed things. No need for you to come in." No, I was just going to show up an hour before "my show" and see what happens.

Bill Harris was on the air. During the next record, he said, "Oh, you must be Henry. This rack contains the current top country records. Play mostly from those." Or pick out an oldie every now and then from those records over there.

Whew! I was still on.

He said, what name are you going to use?

I said, "Uh, Uh,"

He said we'll just call you Henry for now. But you need to come up a name for both yourself and your show. We're now country and we all have country air names. Any questions?"

"Uh, no."

It took me several weeks to come up with a permanent name. So, since WJXN was located on Mississippi's second-largest river, And we frequently flooded, I named my show The Pearl River Jamboree." And, as host, I was Swampwater Henry.

It worked, I had fun. WJXN started its own niche as Jackson's only C&W station. Our Hooper ratings rose. WRBC could have the rock'n rollers! We were country!

And all that led to this newspaper you are now reading. Oh, well, I left out 42 years. In summary: I was now in the media and one thing led to another. And here we are.

And Now, More Sex!

Spankfest at the Ripcord is around the corner, as is Don Dowden's Dog Days of Summer show at the BRB. The anniversary celebration continues on The Island for Robert's Lafitte.

Save receipts, Gemini!

Belligerent words that you'll have to stand by come way too easily, with Mercury and Mars triggering a Saturn-Pluto aspect. Expect extremists of all types to issue their proclamations and demands. ARIES (March 20 -April 19): Lately you've really needed a challenge, and frustrations could lead to challenging others. Challenging yourself to greater wisdom and creation is the worthier struggle. What really matters, and what did Mom tell you about that? TAURUS (April 20 -May 20): Words come too easily and can leave you with onerous commitments.

When you're angry or scared, be especially careful of what you say. Avoid difficult people, and stick with friends with whom you can try to understand – or at least make fun of! – the others.

GEMINI (May 21 -June 20): Spending money is not therapeutic, but it can be addictive. Buying a surprise for your darling is another matter. Still, save the receipt! Everyone is stressed out, and you're their favorite confidant. Make sure you get a chance to unload, too!

CANCER (June 21 -July 22): Everyone's on edge these days, and you may be the best person to articulate the general anxiety. Resist the urge to assuage people's discomfort with material presents. Better to offer your presence and clarity, even if you don't feel very clear.

LEO (July 23 -August 22): Your urge to perform is a mixed blessing. Sometimes, in a crisis, doing nothing is best. Try to stay focused and calm. Be the Rock of Gibraltar: calm, steady, and assuring.

VIRGO (August 23 -September 22): You desperately want to have all the answers. Mother's voice is either provoking your doubts or offering the real answers, much as you dislike them. Real or imagined, let Mom have her say. You can disagree, but at least think about it!

LIBRA (September 23 -October 22): Your political instincts are usually sharp, but now they're all wrong. Criticism from a mentor or boss can prove very helpful if you can adapt well in response. The harsher it is, the more you can profit from it.

SCORPIO (October 23 -November 21): The need for novelty is straining your relationship and, more so, your sense of personal values. Performance anxiety at work can be feeding performance anxiety elsewhere. Discussing these issues with your partner (or a close friend) is the biggest challenge and the best solution.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 -December 20): As strong and capable as you feel, you may be more like a bovine in the Baccarat. Your power comes out more effectively when you can be crude and nasty. Even there, be careful with prophylaxis and safe words. CAPRICORN (December 21 -January 19): Everyone else is in stress city. It's clear-to you, at least-that erotic release is the answer to everyone's rattled nerves, and you are the one to administer relief. You may be -but save it for the truly appreciative!

AQUARIUS (January 20 -February 18): Your community involvements are important, but need to be adjusted in deference to your partnership. As "charity begins at home," so do other virtues. Friends can help with insight and negotiations.

PISCES (February 19 -March 19): Your job could be very much in the way of the creative ideal of your life's work. A long, in-depth practical discussion -preferably with a sister or aunt -can help you see the problem and the goal differently, and to turn an obstacle into a bridge.
